In Re: Toyota Motor Corp. Unintended
Acceleration Marketing, Sales
Practices, and Products Liability
Litigation

CASE NO: 8:10ML02151 JVS(FMOx)

This document relates to:

ORDER NO. 12: PROCEDURES FOR
SELECTION OF BELLWETHER
CASES

ALL CASES

Having considered the parties' memoranda and oral arguments on February 25, 2011, the Court now adopts the following procedures for selecting initial, or bellwether, cases for trial in 2013.

1. Each side may propose up to three personal injury/wrongful death cases in order of preference.¹ No party may propose more than two cases involving the same model. As the Court has previously indicated at the February

¹As noted in its previous Minute Order, the Court leaves to the future to determine whether one of the 2013 bellwether cases should be some form of economic loss class action.

(Docket No. 791 p. 2 n.1.)

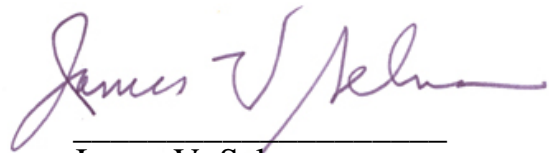

1 25, 2011 hearing, the Court expects that one of the first two trials will involve a
2 Camry and Toyota's ETCS system.

3
4 2. The proposed cases shall be identified in a filing on or before April
5 21, 2011. (Order No. 11, p. 2.)

6
7 3. If any side objects to a proposed case, the party shall file a written
8 objection no later than April 25, 2011. The Court will consider reasons for 9 exclusion of a particular case, but not the relative merits of the cases proposed by 10 the parties. Absent a disqualification of a particular case, each side should have 11 the right to pick one of the first two cases for trial. The Court will consider any 12 objections at the presently scheduled April 29, 2011 status conference.
